B.C.’s ‘Serengeti’ wilderness to be preserved as parkland

Legislation aimed at protecting the spectacular region is before the legislature.

The Muska-Kechika region is about the size of Nova Scotia

It will also be used to plan sustainable and environmentally safe resource development and to produce educational material.

The fund is to be used to enhance wildlife populations and habitats, provide research into wilderness management, wildlife biology and ecology, and the study of large predator/prey ecosystems.

― Stephen Hume

Philai Shir

Malco

Garde Gardo and makes carriage entry political name

MICHAEL Vancouver Art chair, had big v in Tuesday for and a cruise th From The Sh Mosas of the A exhibition with rator, Peter Macnair.

Philanthropies, there included Gerald and Shea han Mc Gavins, who have given millions to the Vancouver Arts Society. Gordon is the former’s nicely offshore nuclear black o.

Lawrence P tun, the aboriginal artist who was at Shimerring’s public opening, missed the do. This was likely as well, since donors may have been d at being told, “You’re all land,” as Yukw ished art-trade; a recent batch c.

GARDE G B.C. Lieutenant U.S. consul gen a Canadian and American one beat theirs in rugby champion. We won 17-15 has bet consult.

Shimokoji a b um B.C. wine that we’ll lick la.

DAVID BEN knows nothing studio other family members may be planning.

Bought-out in May from the third generation

Ramsey reviews contract options